The estate has a legal water well and electricity supply, ensuring all necessary conditions for its development and enjoyment. Beyond its privileged natural surroundings, this property boasts significant historical value. Access to the Baños de la Hedionda area is via a 16thcentury bridge, restored in the 18th century, which was part of the local irrigation system and remains in use today. A unique opportunity for those seeking an unparalleled natural setting, privacy, history, and multiple possibilities for use, whether as a private residence or investment.
